About the Beautiful World video

Brings together five filmmakers filming in 25 locations around the globe to create a day in the life scenario that shows the everyday as, well... totally beautiful.

The concept came from bass ace George-Savva Georgiou, and, together with director Matthew Lawes, they have put together a piece of collaborative art to illustrate and illuminate this gorgeous, lulling song.

For more details on how the video came about, who was involved, the filmmakers, the locations, the sword eater, the small giraffe, the camel that laughs...it's here: www.allkiller.com.au/richwebb/videonotes. It's 3 mins 58 seconds of beauty - we are really proud of it. The single will be released on 22 October.
